"Then the score stands 6 to 5?"
"Yes, that is the way it stands."

Great Joy in Lincoln.

The joy in this town to-night should be canned; there ought to be some way of-pre-serving it. It is spontaneous, infectious, irresisible. College joys best expresses itself resisible. College logs best expresses itself in noise-like funder the noise the deeper the joy. Bells, bands, marching bodies of students, full of song, laden the crisp, sweeping Nebraska gar with a medley of sound that was newer squaded, even when the state legislature was in session. In the state legislature was representatives in this town forked over their standeons; their rupees, their wherewithall to the Nebraskas at a ratio of two and three to one. Between $1.200 and $1.500 was posted at one hotel here. The best odds the kansans could get were seven to five and this soon turned into two to one, then three to one, and finally even money that Naussis would treble Nebraska's score. Many bets were made that Nebraska would not score, although the sums posted on this proposition were of the $5 and $10 demanifications. Money had to be coaxed from Nebraska pockets. Kansas was conceded to be the stronger team, and a man who would have offered to place even money on Nebraska would have been regarded as a fit subject for the asylum of the feeble minded. As the hour for the game to begin drew pearer and hearter, local pride at a three to one ratio asserted itself and wads of long green' began to appear. One man from Lawrence was about $500 loser. in noise-the lander the noise the

Talk of Another Game.

There is some talk to-night of an effort to arrange a game with Nebraska for Monday, but it is not thought anything will come of it. Kansas is beaten, but not conquered. The Jayhawk bird may have lost, a few feathers may be missing, but it is not sitting on the dead tree of despair, croaking the dismal croak of a disconsolate raven who refuses to be comforted. Like the man from Oklahoma, it feels that it "did its duradest" and is ready for another bout with worther foe. "Kansas could have beaten Nebriska if the full halves had been played," declared Manager could have beaten Nebraska it the fut halves had been played." declared Manager McKinnie. "We have a better team than Nebraska. We play better ball than they do, but we do not resort to slugging and unsportsmanlike tactics to win. When we unsportsmanlike tactics to with have to do that we will quit the game." "Kansas had all the best of the decisions "Kansas had all the umpire." declared

"Kansas had all the best of the decisions from the referee and the umpire," declared Manager Ouray, of the Nebraskans.
"Every decision was against us. Kansas never scored a point; the referee gave them five points; that is all there is to it. We shall protest against the allowance of those five points and will bring a dozen witnesses to swear that the ball never passed over

Beginning of the Game.

A brisk little breeze blew across the field from the east. The colors of Nebraska were red and white and bits of ribbon fluttered from the tops of tally-hos and hundreds of coat lapels. Kansas was well represented, many Kansas citizens being there. A band in all the glory of gray uniforms and brass instruments was stationed near the south goal. One piece it played that was recognized was "The Honeymoon March." Just before the kickoff a quartette of well trained voices rendered this parody through megaphones:

"Say, oh say, but the Kansas men are Sore,
They've seen their day, but it won't go

And we'll get back the pennant where we had it once before,
There'll be a hot time in old town to-night,

Mr. Kleinhaus Explains.

"I wish to say," declared Mr. Kleinhaus last night when referring to his ordering Cowgill from the game, "that I forfeited the game then and there to Kansas, by a score of 6 to 0. My forfeiture would stick in case protest is filed." In this lineup, Kansas gave the first evidence of strength back of the line and held the Nebraskans for the ball. Hess and Speaks each split the center for three yards, when the ball went to Nebraska on downs. Williams then skirted the left end for seven yards, after which he plunged through the center eleven yards, to the line. Shedd was shoved over for a touchdown and a moment later he kicked the goal. The playing time had been about 7 minutes. On the lineup-Speaks kicked to Nebraska's 20 yard line. Williams returned the ball 10 yards. He plowed through ceater for 15 yards and on the next play went through the same hole for 10 yards. After each play a member of one side or the other laid on the ground from 2 to 10 minutes. Shedd wriggled through the center for 2 yards more, and then Williams dedged around left end for 3 yards. Foster broke through the line and downed Williams for a loss of 2 yards. Kansas then forced Nebraska to punt, the ball being caught on the goal line by Speaks, who was downed in his tracks. The guards' back assault upon the line sent Speaks through the center for 3 yards. Walker, passed through the center for 1 yards, Speaks went through center for 2 yards.

The Center Line Broken.

Speaks punted 25 yards, but there was no return. Williams shattered the center for 10 yards, and Shedd for 5 yards, when Kansas was given the ball for holding. Speaks punted 5 yards. Shedd hit the center for 5 yards, Williams for 5 yards, Shedd of 5, and then Shedd skirted right end for 2 yards. Cowgill punted 20 yards, and Speaks made a return of 2: Foster, Market end for 10 yards. Foster scooted around left end for 10 yards. Foster scooted around left end for 10 yards, and Foster followed with 3. Gaines went around right end for 5 yards. Foster hit center for 3. Nebraska rallied and held Kansas at the 35 yard line. Cowgill punted 20 yards and Speaks made a falt catch and heeled it for a free kick. He kicked the hall high, and on Shedd's muff. Walker fell on the pigskin on the 35 yards inc. Voigts carried the hall 15 yards through center and followed it up for 5 yards more through the same hole. The ball was then passed back to Kennedy, who held it for a place kick by Speaks.

Kansas steadily forced the ball to the center of the field and had it nicely headed goalward when the whistic sounded. Just two hours had been consumed in order to get in thirty-five migutes' play. The second half has already been described.

Something About the Teams.

Now, fust a word in closing about the two teams. It became evident after Nebraska had made a touchdown that, like the drinn Elizabeth, they were praying for time, offering in exchange therefor arguments, protests, winded players and seemingly bruised men. The work of Shadd-and Williams was of a high order. Nebraska had the advantage in weight, but not in wind. The Kansas interference was readily shattered and broken. Left end was a vulnerable spot, as also was center. Kansas, being unable to resist the terrific onglaught of the Nebraskans, except in two or three instances. Kansas played astest ball, because its lungs, were in bet-er trim. The Nebraskans used a tandem formation made by bringing the right tackter trim. The Nebraskans used a tandem formation made by bringing the right tackle back and shoving the ball through the center or skirting left end. Tha Nebraskans could hardly have stood out twentyfive minutes more of playing and Kansas would possibly have redeemed itself, but, in the meantime, let us all be thankful to-day's melec did not take place on Exposition park gridison. Woodruff Says No Game Was Played.

Wylie G. Woodruff, coach of the Kansas team, contends that no game was played and the score really stands 0 to 0. The and the score really stands 0 to 0. The protest will be filed under this rule: "The time of game shall be seventy minutes, each side playing thirty-five minutes from each goal. The game shall be decided by the final score at the end of even halvs."

Dr. Woodruff says this is the only rule that covers the game. "As both teams left the field simultaneously," he said, "on account of darkness, the game stands 0 to 0. If one team had left and refused to play, the game would then have been forfeited to the other teat. While our treatment was bad, I do not think it was as bad as that of the officials. I feel that the officials who are not paid for their services are the guests of the teams. The day will soon come when, if we insult our guests, it will be a difficult matter to get guests. They receive no recompense for their services, only the actual expenses.

"To be called thieves, liars and everything else is discourteous treatment in the extreme. Such treatment will drive honorable men out of the business. I still consider my team 30 points better than the Nebraska team. The team had no chance to play because of the wrangling, and jangling. I had heard that the Nebraska team intended to use every possible means to defeat my boys, and to-day's gamo proved it."

Mr. Woodruff said he made a proposition to Manager Ouray to play Nebraska Monday in Omaha, and to send to Northwestern for officials to referee and umpire the game, in order to settle which is the best team. K. U. May Abandon Football.

Lawrence, Kas., Nov. 13 .- (Special.) There vere expressions in university circles tonight in opposition to allowing football to be continued by the university students, This arose from the bulletin from The Journal announcing trouble arising at the Lincoln game to-day.

The feeling created by the row at the Lincoln game, as generally estimated, should not be engendered, and permitting students to become entangled in disgraceful brawls, in the opinion of some, should be prevented. The one death last year and the general mixup at Lincoln to-day will force a consideration of the advisability of discontinuing the game as a university feature.

The second half opened with lively punting, and after a warm contest Doane was forced over for Purdue's third touchdown. He falled on a goal kick. Webb and Alward created openings for Purdue's backs, Moore finally carrying the ball over for a touchdown, and kicking a goal. Purdue then indulged in long punts, Missouri following suit, but with losses, Doane, of Purdue, rode to a touchdown on Webb's back. Moore missed goal.

CENTRALS 6, MEDICS, JRS., 6. Surprising Game Put Up by the High School Boys at Exposition Park

Against the Doctors.

Medies' second eleven thought they would have an easy time beating the Central high school eleven at Exposition park yesterday, but the high schood boys tied yesterday, but the high school boys fied the score in an excellent game. The boys made numerous breaks in the doctors' in-terference and this, despite the fact that they were outweighed twenty pounds to the man. The boys showed themselvs swifter and better tacklers than the pillmakers.
The Centrals had the better of the argument by a score of 5 to 0 at the end of the first half, but the superior weight of the doctors had its effect and they pounded the score to a standstill.

Wisconsin University Eleven Defeats the Chicago Team in the Presence of 10,000 People.

Chicago, Nov. 13.-Nearly 10,000 football versity of Wisconsin defeat the University of Chicago on Marshall field this after noon, by a score of 25 to 8. Had it not been for two bad fumbles by Wisconsin in the second half, Chicago would have been shut out, for her hitherto unbeaten champions were completely outplayed. The result was a genuine surprise to all except the Wisconsin trainers. It was the general belief that the game would be close, but the Chicago's fast backs would bring victory to the Maroons. Wisconsin, perhaps, showed her greatest strength where she was supposed to be weakest, at the tackles and ends. The men in their positions did beautiful work in breaking up Chicago's hitherto almost impregnable interference on her runs around the end, and the Maroons as a consequence were unable to advance the ball much in this way. Most of their gains were made on straight bucks against the line. In the pushing matches Chicago had a little the better of it. consin trainers. It was the general belief

His Presence of Mind Prevented a Frightful Disaster at Indinnapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 13.-The presence of mind of a motorman on a Brightwood trolley car last night averted an accident in which loss of life would probably have been inevitable. The car was crowded with possengers, among whom was Governor Mount, returning to his home in Woodruff, as the car approached the Big Four crossing on Massachusetts avenue. Motorman Allen Abrahams observed an engine backing toward his car at the rate of thirty miles an hour. An application of the street car brakes would have landed the car on the track just in time to be crushed by the engine. Realizing this fact, Motorman Abrahams applied the full current, and the car jumped the crossing at a bound, but the hood over the rear end of the car was entirely severed by the engine. in which loss of life would probably have

GENERAL DISSATISFACTION AMONG THE SPANISH TROOPS.

Annexation to the United States Growing in Favor Among Mercantile and Foreign Elements-Efforts to Divide Autonomists.

Havana, Nov. 13,-The insurgents are again active throughout the Central and Eastern Cuba. It is understood that they will shortly make a bold demonstration as proof that they have not accepted autonomy and to induce the next session of the United States congress to recognize their rights as belligerents.

Throughout the island general dissatisfaction exists among the Spanish troops, who oppose the policy of coaxing the insurgents and according them kind treat-ment, which they believe will faciliate the plans of the insurgents.

Marshal Blanco, it is understood, lacks the necessary moral influence over the troops to induce them to carry out his plans for the kind treatment of the insurgents, and the natural consequence of this is a state of confusion.

The annexation of Cuba to the United States is gaining in favor among the mer-cantile and foreign elements in the island. The local guerrilla band at San Felipe, province of Hayana, while reconnoitering n the environs, were surprised by a band of insurgents under Juan Delagado, and eight of the twenty guerrillas compo the band were macheted. General Pancho Carillo, according to official reports, recently crossed by way of the La Luisa hills at Placetas, with 200 mounted men, returning from Clenfuegos, where he went to meet an expedition which landed there recently, it is believed, from the Dauntless. General Carillo was on his way to the Felicia ranch on the border of Rio Blanco, where is located the camp of General Gomez, in the Sancti Spiritus district.

Dispatches from Madrid say that the officially inspired papers, El Correo and La Correspondencia, point to the possibility of a division of the Autonomist party into Radical and Conservative wings. Accord-

Radical and Conservative wings. According to these papers the Reformist party would be dissolved, and its elements would ferm the Radical wing of the Autonomist party, headed by Senors Jose Bruzon, Gibera and Fernando Gonzales. The Conservative wing would be formed under the leadership of the historic Autonomists, Senor Rafael Labra, Don Jose Galvez, the Marquis De Montoro, and Senors Gueto, Saladrigas and Fernandez de Castro, who founded the Autonomist party.

La Lucha in a leading editorial makes a violent attack upon the Sagasta cabinet for attempting to divide the Autonomist party by ignoring the principal personages of the organization and accepting the services of second grade autonomists. The paper predicts that this division will create disturbances and urges Marshal Blanco not to neglect the leading autonomists, deciaring that if he does so they will not remain idle, but will retaliate.

It is generally believed that the newly appointed governors in Cuba will hold their offices but a comparatively short time, as it is the general opinion that within two months insular chambers will be formed, when the governors will be elected by popular vote.

Madrid, Nov. 13.-News received here states that an attempt was made by General Weyler's friends to organize a demonstration at Porto Rico, on the liner touching there, but it was frustrated by the determined attitude of the governor, Sabar Marin. The men on trial were the leaders of a strike at Avoca, in October, and the company caused their arrest on the allegation that they entered apon the company's property and, by intimidation, prevented from going to work the men who had been engaged to take the strikers' places. The defense was that no violence had been committed. Washington, Nov. 13 .- (Special.) The appointment of Jacob Schell to be postmaster at Savannah, Mo., will create some surat savannan, Mo., will create some surprise in the northwestern part of the state. Not more than three or four weeks ago the president filled the office by the appointment of Mr. Andrew Schultsins, after a spirited triangular fight among the followers of Schultsins, Miss Ida Blackburn and O. E. Paul. The appointment was announced, but before the new man had received his bond Colonel J. A. Price, of Savannah, advocating the cause of O. E. Ir the meantime. Jacob Schell took a hand in the fight. His principal backer was his son, Rev. Mr. Edwin A. Schell. The latter is secretary of the National Epworth League, and by virtue of his position in that great organization succeeded in persuading the department and the president to receive the postoffice fight and appoint his father. One result of this appointment will be the selection of Miss Blackburn as assistant postmaster, at more salary than has been heretofore connected with the Face. prise in the northwestern part of the state

Another Missouri appointment of interest to-day was that of General Benjamin M. Prentiss to be postmaster of Bethany. General Prentiss is almost universally known as the "Hero of Shiloh." He came to Washington soon after the inaugara-tion, and made many friends among per-sons of influence, who had never met the old veteran before. He could have gone home months ago with his commission as postmaster, but declined to take the office entil the preesnt Democratic postmaster should resign, as he had voluntarily offered to resign by a certain date.

Kerens. Washington, Nov. 13.-(Special.) The reports which have been current for some time in Kansas City and elsewhere that Assistant Secretary Davis, of the interior department, was engaged to be married to a daughter of National Committeeman Kerens, of St. Louis, have been a source of annoyance to Mr. Davis and have been emphatically contradicted by him on all occasions. An answer was made yesterday, which is as follows:

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 13, 1897.

J. M. Patterson, Chairman, and Gentlemen. Your communication requesting that I permit the use of my name as a candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor of this city has been carefully perused and each point duly considered by me. And while I feel highly honored by the expressions of esteem and confidence contained therein, and sincerely appreciate every sentiment of indorsement of my past official services, yet the gravity and importance of the request, and the responsibilities attendant upon acceding to the same are such as to make it imperative that I should clearly outline my position in order that you may be made fully aware of my attitude and thereby be the better enabled to determine whether it would be judicious or prudent for representatives of the Republican party to make an effort toward nominating me. I am deeply sensible of the high honor that is to be conferred by the Republican nomination of some one for mayor of this great and progressive city. And I am just as deeply sensible of the odium that attaches where any dishonorable means are used in behalf of one candidadate as against another. Therefore I am of the opinion that in order to obtain a free expression of honest convictions at the polls, no undue influence or selish interests should be permitted to dominate, but that each member of the party should have a single eye and alm in the direction of the city's best interests, for I am thoroughly satisfied of the truth of your statement; that he who serves best the people best serves the party. With these views, which I still hold, I have repeatedly stated that I was not a candidate, nor would I be in the sense of seeking the nomination by individual effort, for I realize that I could not be a pronounced candidate without in some way endeavoring to influence the various elements in my behalf, while at the same time I should be compelled to neglect the duties of my office, and this I will not nor cannot d would be so great and unusual an honor that I could not nor would I refuse to accept, but would do my utmost to secure the election of the entire ticket.

Again thanking you for such a flattering testimonial, I am yours very respectfully, JOHN J. GREEN.

player, who married Miss Jessie, the daughter of Hon. Robert T. Lincoln, of Chicago, in that city a few days since. He says that Beckwith played ball in Texas last season, beginning with Paris and ending with McCloskey, of Dallas.

"Beckwith was a good ball player," he said. "He had a good curve ball and won many a game by his puzzling work at the rubber. Paris, of the Texas League, signed him at the opening of last season, but he became ill and went back home to recuperate. Manager John J. McCloskey, of Dallas, who, it will be remembered, was formerly manager of the Louisvilles, purchased his release from the Paris management for a song and induced him to return to Texas. Before the scason was over, he demonstrated to the satisfaction of the crunks that he was a first-class all around player. He was a first-class all around player. He was a handsome, good natured, plucky fellow, in the game from start to finish, and his affability made him very popular. In fact, some people went so far as to dub him 'the Chauncey Depew of the Texas League.'

"Beckwith is on the reserve list of the Dallas team, but I understand that some Eastern club wants him for the season of 1898. As to whether he will play ball next season, however, remains to be seen."

LAURIER'S MISSION.

CANADIAN PREMIER HAS MADE AN EXCELLENT IMPRESSION.

GOOD RESULTS ARE EXPECTED.

WILL LEAVE FOR HIS HOME ON MONDAY OR TUESDAY.

Visit Was an Official One, Arranged and Sanctioned in London During the Queen's Jubilee-Treaties Must Be Made With England.

Washington, Nov. 12.-While the plans of the Canadian contingent now in Washington in connection with the seal conference are not finally fixed, it is the present expectation that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the premier, with Sir Louis Davies and his personal following, will leave Washington on their return home Monday or Tuesday, The experts on seal life leave for England and Canada. Messers, Thompson and Macoun, however, will remain here for a time pursuing the conferences in which they are now engaged with the United States experts. They will resume their sessions Monday. Something of the view taken of this Canadian mission by our government, perhaps, may be gathered by the following utterance of a high administration official who has had dealings with the Canadian premier:

"Sir Wilfrid has not only been received by "Sir Wiltrid has not only been received by the government with great consideration, but has made an excellent impression upon all the gentlemen with whom he has come in contact. As a stanch Canadian statesman, he naturally demands concession for concession. At the same time, he has shown a liberal spirit towards the plan of increasing the commercial intercourse of the two countries, and if he meets the views of the United States half way there is a fair chance of removing from the present field of view the most important questions which have produced so much irritation between the two countries during the preceding period of 'Conservative' administration in Canada."

The statement was made to-day that the

have produced so much irritation between the two countries during the preceding period of 'Conservative' administration in Canada."

The statement was made to-day that the present visit of Sir Wilfrid Lauriec, the Canadian premier, and Sir Louis Davies, was arranged at London, during the queen's jubilee, when conferences were held between Lord Salisbury, Mr. Chamberlain and Canadian officials. General Foster, the American seal commissioner, was in London at the time and was apprised of the proposed visit and the sanction of the London authorities. This statement was called out by the misapprehension as to the official character of the present visit. The Canadian visitors have been annoyed at reports telegraphed to Canada to the effect that the visit was arranged by a private gentleman of Toronto, who was in Washington recently. When this report was called to the attention of Sir Louis Davies, he laughingly stated that it doubtless was inspired by a desire to prejudice and hellittle the present visit in the eyes of the Canadian people. Without reflection on this gentleman personally, it was stated that he had no part in bringing about the visit, and that the entire arrangement had been made in London during the jubilee.

That plan, it was stated, referred only to the Bering sea meeting, and the present visit was official only in relation to that one question. At the same time, the visit afforded the opportunity for an unofficial exchange of views on all the various questions affecting the relations between the United States and Canada. These problems are more or less interwoven with the Bering sea question and the consideration of one involves to some extent the discussion of all of them. The desire was, therefore, to give the views of the Canadian officials en all these subjects and at the same time to secure the views of the Canadian officials on the hope that some common method of agreement might be secured. The purpose of these subjects and at the same time to secure the views of the Canadian officials could
